

Gloop! Glorious Gloop!

It is time to make the fascinating, curious substance that feels like both a liquid and a solid, with the ultimate gloop recipe!

This activity is a little messy, but it's definitely worth it... and is easy to clean afterwards!

What will I need?

- A large bowl (preferably plastic)
- One or two big spoons
- Cornflour
- Water
- Food colouring (optional)
- An apron or clothes you don't mind getting messy
- Newspaper to protect the floor if you're playing inside

Pour a cup or two of cornflour into a bowl and gradually add water until you have a 'gloopy' mixture.

Let your child mix the cornflour and water with the spoon and add a little food colouring at this stage (if using).

Now roll up your child's sleeves and let them plunge their hands into the bowl. Pick up some of the gloop and squeeze it! Note that as you apply pressure to the gloop, it feels like a solid. Relax your hand and the gloop will run back into the bowl as a liquid.
